THE ANDOVER TOWNSMAN

Andover everywhere and always, first, last — the manly, straightforward, sober, patriotic New England Town — PHILLIPS BROOKS

ONE YEAR $2.00 SINGLE COPY 5 CENTS | ANDOVER, MASSACHUSETTS, NOVEMBER 8, 1918 | VOLUME XXXII NUMBER 4

He wants to play as hard as he fights!
Your boy carried the love of sport overseas,—
"Come on, buddie! Put it over the pan!" he yells,
And the pan is the tin hat he has worn over the top
Will you help to provide him with balls,
Gloves, athletic directors, and give him some fun?
Will you please?

TO THE PEOPLE OF ANDOVER

There are two new kinds of fighters in this war,—
They do not carry guns but they carry cheer and smiles,
And great big hearts.
They fight against lonesomeness and worry and heartache,
They are the men and women who understand,
And they give your boys comfort and doughnuts
And a touch of home.

MASS MEETING SUNDAY NIGHT

Stirring Addresses Promised, and Great Chorus Will Sing Popular Songs. Meeting Opens the "Give" Campaign With Andover Called On For $30,000.

Even if the war should end this week, it is said that many of our soldiers will be kept in Europe for the next two years. Guard duty and garrison duty would occupy them for that time. In that case, the work of the Y.M.C.A., the Knights of Columbus, and other such societies will be as important as ever, if not more so. They will not be bending all their energies to keep the fighters fit, as they are now doing; but they will be fully busy in making those two years of guard duty fine and happy years instead of idle and bored years.

It is a huge sum that the seven societies are asking. Andover's quota of twenty thousand dollars and its maximum of thirty thousand look large too; but Andover can do it. It has got into the habit of going over the top.

Perhaps the last midst-of-war mass meeting will be held in the town hall on Sunday night, opening the United War Work Campaign. The meeting will begin at 7.30. Doors open at 7.15. The program will be as follows:

|---|---|
| Prayer | Rev. Dumont Clarke |
| Chairman's Address | Prof. Charles H. Forbes |
| Address | K. of C. Speaker |
| Address | Rev. John T. Ullom, Y.M.C.A. |

Mr. Ullom has spent a year in France and has just come back. He went over

The United War Work Campaign will ask the people of this country, during the week beginning November 11th, to contribute to a fund to provide the comforts, conveniences and pleasures supplied to each man and woman in military or naval service.

The seven organizations, representing the United War Work Campaign, are the

Young Men's Christian Association
Young Women's Christian Association
National Catholic War Council—K. of C.
Jewish Welfare Board
American Library Association
War Camp Community Service
Salvation Army

Instead of coming to the public with seven separate appeals for funds, they have submitted their budgets to President Wilson and have agreed to work

BIG VOTE IN ANDOVER

Election Results Show Andover Voters Alert. Gleason Overwhelmed in Senatorial Contest. Town Against I. & R. Favors Other Amendments. Weeks Has Good Local Vote. Other Results.

With a total vote of 1240 out of a possible 1310 it is doubtful if any town in the state showed a larger percentage of votes actually cast than did Andover at Tuesday's election. Of the above number, 1085 were registered in Precinct 1 and 155 from Precinct 2.

The big local interest was in connection with the vote for U. S. Senator, governor, and state senator. For all three of these offices Andover cast a very large Republican majority, giving Mr. Coolidge the biggest lead, and in fact one of the town's record majorities in a contested election.

Mr. Gleason's fight for the state senate, and the interest of local advocates of the I. and R., were the other outstanding features of the day.

The Republican town committee was active the entire day, and it is very largely due to their well-directed efforts that the big vote was registered.

Ninth District Representative

| | Robertson | Traynor |
|---|---|---|
| Andover | 840 | 300 |
| Middleton | 138 | 28 |
| No. Andover | 699 | 205 |
| | 1677 | 533 |

An Interesting Comparison

The vote of the district for state senator summarizes as follows:—

SENATOR

(Fifth Essex District)

| | Callahan, D | Gleason, R. |
|---|---|---|
| Andover | 321 | 836 |
| North Andover | 420 | 497 |
| Methuen | 579 | 1108 |
| Lawrence | 5567 | 2597 |
| Totals | 6887 | 5038 |

Democratic plurality 1849

Ten years' pluralities:—

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| 1908 | 1066 | Republican |
| 1909 | 632 | " |
| 1910 | 657 | Democratic |
| 1911 | 292 | " |
| 1912 | 1463 | " |
| 1913 | 411 | Republican |
| 1914 | 937 | " |
| 1915 | 1302 | " |
| 1916 | 1740 | " |
| 1917 | 2946 | " |

From the above it will be seen that the 1918 majority, for a Democratic candidate accredited to be the weakest candidate for many years, was the largest in ten years, and from records available it is found to be the largest in the his tory of the Lawrence-Andover district.

Report of Belgian Clothing Committee

Ten cases containing one thousand nine hundred eighty-two articles of warm and comfortable clothing and two cases with two hundred sixty pairs of shoes, contributed by one hundred twenty-five persons of Andover, were packed and sent this week by Mrs. Purdon and Mrs. Blackford to the Commission for Belgian Relief at Neward, New Jersey.

One of these cases contained sixty pairs of new shoes of all sizes given by Mr. John A. Towle and there was also received a small sum of money to go toward purchasing clothes.

Mrs. Sawyer and Mrs. Hayes collected clothes from those families who lived at a distance and were unable to bring them to the guild.

Altogether the drive was most successful in Andover and much credit is due those who so generously and kindly gave time and strength to the work.

The Kaiser, "The Beast of Berlin," latest and most timely of all superphotoplays dealing with the present great world war, comes to the Colonial theatre, November 12 and 13, after sensational runs in New York, Chicago, Boston and Denver.

The photoplay gives a more forceful, clearer understanding of why the United States has entered the war—to stamp out kaiserism. It shows how the Kaiser planned the sinking of the Lusitania and awarded a special medal to the captain of the U-boat that launched the fatal torpedo. The film pictures the tearing up of the famous "scarp of paper" that guaranteed Belgium her rights to peace and happiness, and the challenge to America when Ambassador Gerard informed his majesty that President Wilson would no longer tolerate Germany's ruthless naval warfare.

The photoplay shows how the emperor ordered the routing of his troops bound for Paris, through Belgium, and without the use of scense of land battles or of naval engagements carefully and forcefully unravels its story of German kultur, forced upon Belgium, shows the American ambassador, Gerard, conveying President Wilson's message, asking for the termination of wholesale murder of neutrals on trans-Atlantic ships, the torpedoing of which the kaiser has ordered, and continues to visualize historic facts until the last reel, in which the author leaves fact for fancy to picture what seems likely to be the result of the Hohenzollern campaign.

COPLEY THEATRE

Bernard Shaw's comedy, "You Never Can Tell", will be the play at the Copley Theatre the coming week. This play by the brilliant Irishman who is unquestionably the leader among modern playwrights was successful when it was acted at the Copley Theatre two seasons ago, and its revival comes in response to many requests for its repetition. Its plot centres about the personality of a butler, and it is filled with the characteristic Shavian wit that has been no small factor in the making of Shaw's reputation. It tells a coherent story, its characters are diversified in the extreme, and there is scarcely a moment either in its action or in its dialogue when the audience is not kept in roars of laughter.

In fact, Shaw was never in livelier mood than when he was writing "You Never Can Tell," and that accounts largely for its popularity. He does not preach in it, he has no doctrines or theories to promulgate, he is simply writing a play for the purpose of amusement. It will be staged at the Copley under the personal direction of Henry Jewett, and the cast will include Phyllis Relph, Jessamine Newcombe, Viola Roach, E. E. Clive, H. Conway Wingfield, Fred W. Permain, Leonard Craske Noel Leslie, Montague Weston, and the entire personnel of Mr. Jewett's company. It will be acted for only one week on the Copley stage. Popular prices prevail at both afternoon and evening performances, the schedule ranging from twenty-five cents to one dollar. Matinees are given on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

SCENE FROM THE KAISER

HOLLIS STREET

On Monday night, Otis Skinner will enter upon his second and final successful week in his masterpiece, "The Honor of the Family." Mr. Skinner, in his entire career has never been better suited to a part than that which falls to his lot as Colonel Philippe Bridau, the blustering hero of the Balzac comedy.

It has been a long time since the stage of the Hollis Street Theatre has had so absorbing a play as "The Honor of the Family." Otis Skinner is a great favorite here, and that he is very welcome is shown by the enthusiasm of the large audiences. The play transfers one from America of today to the France of Louis Philippe.

This Colonel Bridau is a dashing combination of bravery, good nature, and keen discrimination, the inspiration for which came from one of Balzac's stories, and never was a character more thoroughly imbued with the spirit of Balzac than Bridau.

Punchard Defeats Pinkerton

The Punchard football team defeated Pinkerton Academy last Saturday with the large score of 48 to 0. They played at Derry, N. H., and their team was stronger in every way than Pinkerton's, so the victory was easy work.

The summary follows:

Score: Punchard 48. Touchdowns made by Payne 5, Daley, Sellars. Goals from touchdowns, Dalton 4, Payne 2. Referee, Boyce. Umpire Michelini. Head linesman, Hickey. Time, 12 and ten min. periods.

P. A. Defeats Worcester Academy

With a score of 24 to 0 the Phillips academy football team defeated the team from Worcester academy last Saturday afternoon at Brother's Field. Andover's team this year is unusually strong and big, so that the school is hoping for a victory at the great game of the season with Exeter which comes Saturday, November 16.

The summary:

An Andover Stowe

Charles E. Stowe of New York, grandson of Harriet Beecher Stowe, is at the Adams Inn in Stockbridge. He must be the son of Charles, the only surviving son who left heirs.

This note connects with one I had caught from old files on "Uncle Tom's Cabin". It is still the world's greatest serial. June 5, 1851, it began in the National Era at Washington, D. C. She was to write twelve instalments but the work grew to forty-three. It is printed in twenty-three languages and its circulation is next to that of the Bible. I love to think that this Andover woman did her bit to free the nations in 1851. Now in 1918, nearly seventy years later, we are sowing the new crop for a world's emancipation, tares as well as wheat to grow together till the Great Harvest.

C. H. A.

No Occasion for Trouble

"John," she said, nudging her husband as they sat in a half-filled street car. "I believe that man over there is trying to flirt with me."

"Do you want me to go over and punch his head?"

"Mercy, no! I wouldn't have you do anything for the world. I just wanted you to know that there's somebody in the world who thinks I'm worth noticing."—Dayton News.

J. Lawson and a Chevrolet belonging to William Haig were totally destroyed in a barn used as a garage, at 188 Oakland avenue.

LAWRENCE

Saturday, Nov. 2—The influenza is practically stamped out in this city. There were seventeen cases reported yesterday and the reason for so many was probably due to failure to report before. The base hospital is a thing of the past and the majority of patients from there went to their homes today. Twice has Louis J. King of Garden street, member of Co. F. been cited for bravery. Once was for helping to kill a number of Germans in No-man's Land and this last time is for capturing, with three others, seventeen German prisoners.——Last night Miss Crawford opened her High School dancing classes for the season.——The services of the Lawrence teachers was greatly appreciated at the base hospital and to show how much valuable assistance they rendered, Major Durant wrote a letter commending their patriotism to the superintendent of schools, B. M. Sheridan.——There were more than thirty thousand subscribers to the Fourth Liberty Loan campaign and over eight million dollars is the amount so far credited to this city, a splendid record.——Librarian Wm. A. Walsh will return to his duties next week after having been at Camp Hancock, Ga.——This morning Wm. Fitzgerald died at his home as a result of injuries received Wednesday when his automobile turned turtle.——Bessie May Skeels pleaded not guilty yesterday before Judge Hammond. She was removed to the Lawrence jail after her arraignment and her counsel is trying to get a speedy trial.

Monday, Nov. 4—Great patriotism and enthusiasm was evident at the flag raising held yesterday by over twenty-five hundred Franco-Americans of this city when more than fifteen thousand persons were present to honor the six hundred and twenty-five boys of French descent who are now in service, and for whom this flag was raised. In the Arlington district, also, a flag was unfurled which contained two gold crosses, five gold stars and ninety-one blue stars, representing the members of the Highland club by which club the flag was raised.——The sixth anniversary of the Lawrence British club was concluded by an excellent banquet at their clubhouse, Saturday evening, when the principal feature was the unfurling of a service flag and a hand-painted honor roll for thirty-six boys in service.——"The spirit, Their Valor, Their High Ideals and the Influence They Have Had at Home" was the subject of Rev. D. H. Gerrish's talk yesterday at the Central Methodist church, when he told of the boys over there. He has done remarkable work in Y. M. C. A. service in France, so that his address was most inspiring.——Organizer Mc'Mahon is the man who was appointed to appeal to H. B. Endicott to secure assistance in bringing about a settlement of the dispute at the Arlington mills.——Dr. V. A. Reed will report for duty, Saturday, November, 9, to be assigned for service as Assistant Medical Examiner. He received his commission as captain several weeks ago.——The Italian section celebrated the great Italian victory over Austria today with gay spirits and many flags, ending with a big parade in the evening.——One hundred and fifty-five thousand dollars is the sum to be raised by the local committee for the United War Work Fund to begin next week.——The petition for twenty-five hundred dollars for one hundred members of the Allied Theatrical Trades Council as reimbursement for the time they were idle during the epidemic, has been turned over by the Board of Health to the city solicitor.——Again the carpenters, forty-seven of the one hundred and twenty-three persons on the base hospital payroll receive the biggest sum. The payroll was three thousand seventy five dollars and seventy-eight cents, Saturday, sixteen hundred thirty-five and twenty cents of which went t carpenters.

Tuesday, Nov. 5—Thirty-eight men were physically examined yesterday afternoon by the local draft board, twenty-eight of which number were passed for general service, five for limited service and five were rejected.——Fourteen patients were transferred to the new cubicle at the General hospital from Emery Hill.——Until the new water supply can be secured, the city must disinfect its water, according to a letter written by E. R. Kelly, commissioner of Health, to Alderman Finnegan.——John A. Brackett, president of the Arlington Trust Co., and a member of the Lawrence Electrical Supply and Construction Co, has resigned his membership of the Central Bridge Commission.——Conservative figures announce that the influenza epidemic will cost the city of Lawrence, sixty-five thousand dollars.—Alderman Finnegan has expended the entire street department appropriation for the year and refuses to have an over draft, so Thursday night, every employee will be laid off.——On Friday evening the people of the Unitarian Church will give two plays in the vestry. They are trying to get money for a new curtain and hope for good attendance.

Wednesday, Nov. 6—Robert Corkhill of Wilmot street, is going overseas soon as a Y. M. C. A. secretary.——Ralph Draper, son of Rev. A. E. Draper, of St. Mark's church, has been elected to go to the officer's training school at Fort Monroe, Va. to specialize in the coast guard artillery.

NORTH ANDOVER

Saturday, Nov. 2—The strike at Davis and Furber's was averted yesterday when the machinists were granted a seven cents per hour increase.——Charles Bouvia, the village blacksmith was seriously injured last night when he was struck by an automobile owned and driven by Wm. A. Yonge, of Danvers. He stepped from the sidewalk into the path of the car so that no blame was placed on the driver who immediately put on his emergency brake. Over ninety hunter's licenses have been granted by Town Clerk J. A. Duncan for this season.——George H. Simonds has charge of the United War Work campaign for this city. The quota is ten thousand five hundred dollars and they plan a house to house canvass as in the other big drives.

Monday, Nov. 4—At the Johnson High school they have lost their football coach, John P. Reardon of Lawrence.——Jeremiah J. Mahoney died Monday evening at his home in Newton Upper Falls.——At St. Michael's church a requiem high mass was sung at 7:30 for the late Miss Margaret McRobbie of Harkaway road.——John Davis of Main street, has been appointed by the board of selectmen as sealer of weights and measures.

Tuesday, Nov. 5—No. Andover Veteran Firemen's meeting was held this evening.——A number of people will go to Lowell for the postponed meeting of the Andover Association of Congregational churches to be held next Tuesday, November 12, at the Highland church.——A serious situation is being created in this town through the use of air rifles by small boys on the street. Over one hundred electric light bulbs have been broken in less than a week.——James Schofield who is the third son of Mr. and Mrs. John Schofield of 38 Main street, in the service, has received a commission as second lieutenant in France.——A harvest supper is to be held Thursday evening at the M. E. church with Dr. W. H. Powell as principal speaker.——Several foxes have been seen in this vicinity recently.——The North Andover Grange met this evening.——The Massachusetts Public Service commission has extended the "city zone" fare limit from Odd Fellow's building to Cheney's Corner and this went into effect Monday.

Wednesday, Nov. 6.—Mrs. William Wood of 63 Sutton street has been appointed janitress of Merrimack and Bradstreet schools.——A school committee meeting was held yesterday afternoon with Attorney A. F. King as chairman.——A meeting of the Grange will be held Tuesday, November 19, to elect officers for the coming term.——The Johnson High School will assist in the singing at the United War Work Campaign rally tomorrow evening.

Thursday, Nov. 7—This afternoon the annual meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of St. Paul's church was held in the parish hall to elect officers and committees for the following year.——North Andover club has its monthy meeting of the board of directors this evening.——At the Harvest Supper to be held tonight at the M. E. church the mortgage will be burned by Ellis Glover, treasurer of the trustees. Special music and Dr. W. H. Powell as speaker will help to celebrate this occasion.——A community sing of war songs will be held this evening at the first meeting in the interests of the United War Work Campaign in North Andover. Lieut. Lofting who has been overseas in the army will be the principal speaker and the meeting will be in Steven's Hall.

Subscribers to the Second Liberty Loan under the weekly payment plan, are reminded that the time for such payments has expired. To accomodate those who are in arrears, the Andover Savings Bank will have its representative at the office of Board of Public Works, on Saturday, November 9, from 2 to 4 p. m.

After this date all payments must be made at the office of the bank in Andover.

Nothing Like That

"I'd like to see Mr. Poggles," said the lady caller. "Mr. Poggles is engaged, ma'am," replied the new office boy. "Engaged fiddlesticks!" exclaimed the lady. "He's married, and I'm his wife."—London Answers.

Cleans Aluminum

This is a surprising tip on cleaning aluminum, but it works. Try it. One may scour and scrub with no result.

Put the dish on the stove, empty, and light the gas, but do not turn it up high. In a little while the marks will vanish from the inside.

Turn it upside down and put it back on the fire. The dish will look like new both on the inside and outside.

NEWS OF ANDOVER SUBURBS

BALLARDVALE

Mrs. Leon E. Knox has returned to her home in Wollaston.

A number of the local soldier boys returned home to vote Tuesday.

Harry Kelson has moved into the Tuttle place on Tewksbury street.

Mrs. Annie Smith of Beverly, spent Sunday with relatives in the village.

Lawrence Ryan and Mrs. Frank McBride of Manchester, N. H., spent Tuesday with relatives in the village.

Mrs. William Troutman of Roxbury spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. William Troutman, River street.

The funeral of Mrs. George Chiras was held last Saturday afternoon. Interment was in Spring Grove Cemetery.

Quite a number of local young men have been notified to answer the roll-call at Georgetown on Saturday, November 9.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lowe and son Horace of Everett were the guests Sunday of Mrs. Nellie L. Smith of High street.

Mr. and Mrs. William Quinn of Cambridge, spent Saturday and Sunday with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Quinn, River street.

Private Harry J. Trow and friend Private Ernest Miller spent the week-end with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Trow, River street.

The regular meeting of Ballardvale Lodge was held Monday evening. As Lodge Deputy, George F. Tilton of Lowell was unable to be present, the installation of officers was postponed till next Monday.

Hallowe'en Party

A very enjoyable Hallowe'en party was held last week Thursday evening at the home of Miss Catherine Clinton.

Among those present were the Misses Rita Trow, Esther Trow, Clara Bigger, Annie Kaley, Annie Kelson, Beatrice Batchelder, Helen Batchelder, Charles Partridge and Eugene Murnane.

Games were played and refreshments were served and all reported the time of their lives.

Needed Qualifications

EARNEST YOUTH—"Father, what qualifications do you need to be a member of the Supreme court?"

FATHER—"You have to be thoroughly respectable, honorable beyond reproach, and be able to write English in such a way that no other lawyer will be quite sure what you mean."—Life.

WEST PARISH

Mrs. Mary Chase is quite ill at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Gayton Abbott spent part of the week with the former's mother, Mrs. Hattie Abbott.

Miss Lois Spickler has been operated on at the St. John's Hospital in Lowell, for some tr uble with her head.

The next meeting of the Red Cross in the Osgood District will be held Saturday with Mrs. Cora Greenwood, Bellevue road.

Private Paul A. Ward, who is stationed at Fort Adams, Newport, R. I., spent two days of this week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Ward.

Augustin Horman, who has been stationed for a while in Canada, has been visiting with his wife at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Spickler.

Arnold Bailey, son of Mrs. Louise Bailey of the River road, will report at Georgetown Saturday of this week to be examined before entering into the military service.

Sooren Kasabian, son of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Kasabian of the Winning Farm, Chandler road, visited at his home over the week-end. He expects it will be his last visit home before going overseas.

As all the churches are requested to recognize the United War Work Campaign next Sunday morning, the pastor of the West church, Rev. Newman Matthews, will speak on the subject and it is hoped that there will be a large audience present.

Grange News

The next Grange meeting will be held next Tuesday evening and the subject for discussion will be "Cows", best breed and their feed. A speaker of authority on cows is expected to be present to lead the discussion. On account of so much sickness, several weeks have passed since a Grange meeting has been held and a good attendance is solicited for Tuesday evening, November 12.

Get Full Value from Ensilage Corn

Cutting corn for the silo before it is ready is too general a practice, warns the United States Department of Agriculture. The full feeding value of the crop can not be obtained until the soft dough stage is reached. The lower leaves will then be dead, some of the husks will have turned brown, and the ears will be hard, but the stalks and upper leaves of the plants will still be green and succulent. Cutting before this time is like marketing cattle or hogs before they are finished.—Weekly News Letter.

ABBOTT VILLAGE

George Haddon of Essex street spent Wednesday in Georgetown.

Miss Annie Anderson of Brechin Terrace has returned to work after a brief illness.

Mrs. Annie Murray of Brechin Terrace has entered the employ of the Smith & Dove Co.

Robert Black of Camp Devens spent the week-end at his former home on Brechin Terrace..

William Haddon, Jr., of Camp Devens spent the week-end at the home of his parents on Essex street.

Sergt. Major David Waldie, who was in the hospital at Sheffield, England, has again reported for service.

Arthur Malone of Camp Devens bade farewell to his friends in the flax mill before leaving camp for overseas.

Alex Valentine, Jr., of Essex street has been called to the merchant marine. He is to report in Boston Tuesday.

Edward B. Sullivan of 61 Red Spring road enlisted in the Coast Artillery last Saturday and is now awaiting to be called.

Amos Henault of Camp Devens made a farewell trip to his friends and family in town last Monday before his departure for parts unknown.

David Gillespie of the Canadian Army, who was reported gassed two weeks ago, has written telling that he is in an American hospital in France.

Soccer Notes

The soccer game between the Wood and Arlington mills is causing a lot of stir among soccer fans this week. The game will be played tomorrow on the Methuen pitch. These teams are rivals in the Y.M.C.A. Industrial League series, each having defeated the other for the championship. This, their third game, should settle which is the better eleven.

A treat is in store within the next few weeks which all interested in soccer should see. The crack Fore River team has been drawn to play the local team, Merrimack Valley, in the second round of the National Cup competition. The game is to be played in Lawrence. The Fore River team is made up of players from all over the eastern states, and every position is held by a star player. Among these is David Page and Joe Black, former Andover cracks and local favorites.

The Merrimack Valley team is expected to force the visitors to the utmost and after their great victory over the Boston Rovers in the first round, they appear as a first-class eleven.

There will be a junior game on the Andover playstead tomorrow between teams representing Lawrence and Andover.

There Are Just a Few Who Make Collections Costly

MOST TELEPHONE SUBSCRIBERS pay their bills promptly and the labor expended in collecting the majority of telephone accounts is, therefore, reasonable.

BUT THERE ARE A NUMBER of subscribers who overlook their telephone bills, who neglect to pay them within the reasonable specified time, and the labor of collecting these accounts is great—probably two or three times as great as that involved in collecting all the accounts that are paid within the desired period.

THE LABOR involved in collecting overdue accounts would be saved if all accounts were paid within a reasonable time, and, under present war-time conditions, might better be devoted to other work of value to the community's telephone service.

We are taking this means of placing the facts before telephone subscribers in general and we feel certain that they will co-operate by paying their bills promptly.

The time has come for us to decide whether we are to be a part of the war, or merely on-lookers.

This is OUR war. We should ALL be in it. If we cannot go to the trenches, we can serve at home.

The man, woman or child who is not a part of the war, in the face of the sacrifices of our boys over there, has no right to enjoy the sacred privileges of America!—no right to call himself an American! He is an alien, if not in name, at least in spirit.

The money which you invest in War-Savings Stamps buys food and supplies for our boys over there, as well as ammunition. The money that you put into War-Savings Stamps represents that much labor, food and supplies, not used by us, but instead turned over to the Army and Navy. ### The Voice of Massachusetts

We cannot help wonder ng how it is going to be possible to provide such information for the voters in the United States as shall lead them to better appreciate what is involved when they vote. More than ever, now that the Initiative and Referendum is a part of the law of Massachusetts, will this apply. In the very election that has just closed a community as intelligent as Andover has the reputation of being, voted apparently with a good degree of understanding upon two amendments, namely the I. and R. and Biennial Elections, and yet on the very same ticket approval is registered for the other seventeen articles of amendment where we would guarantee that not one voter in ten in the entire town had any conception as to what was involved. To prove the truth of this we suggest to any reader who may doubt it that he ask the next ten men he meets what is involved in the amendment that had to do with the acquisition of natural resources and see what his answer will be; or again, what was involved in the amendment that related to the extension of the power of the governor.

Unfortunately, however, in this present emergency the point we desire to make is related to a matter much more important than any one of the amendments on Tuesday's ballot. It had to do entirely with the issue actually involved in the election of a United States Senator, an issue that entirely eliminates Mr. Weeks and Mr. Walsh, but which tremendously concerns New England. As now seems probable, and as would have already been fixed had Senator Weeks been elected, the next Senate will be Republican. The Senate has four important committees: appropriations, finance, foreign relations, and military affairs, and under the present war conditions these are the four vital committees controlling legislation for the United States. How many of those who voted in spite and because of some single issue realized what it would mean to Massachusetts and New England to have as chairman of Foreign Relations, Senator Lodge; to have as chairman of Military Affairs, Senator Weeks; to have as leading members of the two other committees named, Senators Lodge and Weeks,—yet this is exactly what would have happened had Senator Weeks been returned. If Kitchin and his power could destroy as effectively as he has done, the industrial life of New England under normal conditions, where could there have been any better relief to the situation than such an offset as that outlined above. We leave this thought to the group of single-track minds which followed the chief apostle of single-track action in Andover on a single issue, failing to consider the bigger problem in which Massachusetts was so seriously concerned at last Tuesday's election. We may well be grateful that it was only a small group who acted in this way in Andover; unfortunately it was a group altogether too large when the entire commonwealth was covered.

As for the men themselves and the results from a more direct viewpoint, there is reason for a deal of satisfaction over the election of the Republican state ticket here in Massachusetts. It is doubtful if a man has ever gone into the Governor's chair with a higher conception of the responsibilities and a more clear-sighted vision of the task that he has to perform than Calvin Coolidge. Massachusetts need have no fear but that her great traditions are safe, that the big tasks of the next few years will be thoroughly considered and splendidly carried out under his leadership, that the state will go on with a measure of service marked against the years in which Mr. Coolidge will be governor full of value to the great industrial life upon which the state is depending, and upon the moral and physical welfare of the people within the state whose servant he is bound to be.

It is difficult to speak of the defeat of Senator Weeks without feeling some bitterness over some of the factors that have entered into the accomplishment of that end; and yet nothing is to be gained by charging the responsibility of that defeat to an individual or to any particular agent or group of agents. The public will learn as it follows the history of the nation in the next few years what a serious mistake has been made by substituting for a man of such vision, of such business ability, of such broad knowledge of all matters that are to be so pressing during that period, a man whose business training is so nearly nil and whose ability to grasp situations was proven so lamentably weak during his term as governor of the Commonwealth.

The nation will not need in the years near at hand the plausible talker, and the man who can say sweet nothings, even though unfortunately she is likely to have plenty of that sort of service. That Massachusetts should fail to contribute the type of service that the nation will need is cause for serious regret now; that the regret will increase from day to day as the great problems press upon the men who must solve them at Washington will become increasingly manifest. Senator Weeks's work is not done. He may not know just what form it will take. Certainly let us all hope that it will not take him from public life, but that in some way such genius as he has for considering and solving great problems associated with public affairs may still find an opportunity for service.

A Bit of Free Advice

The contest in which the people of Andover were more directly interested than any other, had to do with the election of a state senator. Mr. Gleason and his friends had expected that the district would continue as it had gone for a long time, in the Republican column. Unfortunately for him he had entirely overlooked a situation which the Townsman brought to the attention of its readers after the primary.

Mr. Gleason has now found that the public will stand for the sort of "slap-dash, hand-shaking" work that he has been performing during the past few years, only for a while. There comes a time when the voters want to know what a man has actually done, when it wants something more than superficial good-fellowship, when they need something more in a public servant than the performance of petty errands. When there came to the voters' attention the record of some of Mr. Gleason's votes, a record not at all to his credit in some respects, and much to his credit in others, they found evidence of a lack of that poise and balance which the town of Andover had a right to expect in any man who sought to properly represent it.

The result of the election has, more emphatically than could any call made by the Townsman, put an end to the kind of campaign which the Townsman recently voiced an objection to. If the result carries any lesson to Mr. Gleason, it should lead him to stop doing some things that he has been doing pretty assiduously, and begin to do some things that he has been neglecting just as assiduously.

It should suggest to Mr. Gleason that there is a directness needed in a man who holds public office that finds expression in other language than "You know me, Al" and "attaboy", and hence the public can get along with a little less of this in the future than it has been obliged to endure in the past.

Mr. Gleason should also discover, now that he has a little time for considering other matters than getting somebody to vote for him, that there is still left an opportunity for able-bodied men in this community to do some real work. If he looks around he will find that everybody is busy, he will find that while he has failed to plant as much as a tomato can in the past two years, all his neighbors have been planting in their gardens and occupying their daylight hours in tasks that have been productive.

He will find that the great group of war activities occupying the minds of men and women might very properly attract a little of his enthusiasm to much better advantage than some other things, and even though such works are well organized in Andover, it is quite possible that a man with his enthusiasm might find something to do of much more value to the community in these days, than spending his time on street corners asking men for votes, when men would very much rather be asked for subscriptions to Liberty Loans, War Savings Stamps, and War Welfare Work.

More important than all these would be, in the minds of some people, an application of the admonition seen on every billboard throughout the United States, to the case of the Andover representative, who certainly now hasn't enough affairs of state to demand all of his time even though he may have considered that the government couldn't run without him for three years past. This admonition is simple, direct, and plain. It implies that there is something for everybody to do along lines of useful occupation under present needs, and reduced to three words it is "Work or Fight".

All the other admonitions above may be overlooked if they suggest too much advice at a single time, but certainly he ought not to overlook this last one, and in the light of very recent bell-ringing and horn-blowing, this admonition is now reduced to a single word.

RED CROSS NEW QUARTERS

All Activities to Be Carried on in Workroom at Andover Guild House

The directors of the Andover Guild who have closely cooperated with the Red Cross for the past four years, are most generously making it possible to carry on all the Red Cross activities under one roof.

Thanks to the fine spirit of the members of the November Club their clubhouse has proved for the past fifteen months a most convenient and delightful workroom for the making of surgical dressings; but on account of the coal situation it has been considered out of the question to heat two buildings when one can easily do double duty.

The other question which entered into the decision to make the change is the probability of irregularity in the surgical dressings quotas. At present, on account of the epidemic, we are fully a month behind in our production, with three quotas of work on hand, but at some later day we may have a lull, in which case our workers will gladly turn to the sewing work, which will be under the same roof.

This part of the work we must remember, will increase with every stream of homeless refugees released from the devastated districts of France and Belgium, for as yet, change of heart does not seem to have come to the retreating army!

On account of moving to our new quarters, there will be no regular surgical dressings work next week, but we shall hope to open the new workroom at the Guild the following week, and the days will be Tuesdays and Wednesdays.

As the Red Cross is actually doing work for the government and with material entirely controlled by the War Industries Board, it is our patriotic duty to do our share in the most efficient manner possible, and the making of the Andover Guild the headquarters for all branches of work will best accomplish this end.

Colonial Theatre Allows One Penny a Peach Stone

The government needs more peach stones, prune pits, nutshells of all kinds in order to supply our army with gas masks. Any child below fourteen years who will turn in six (6) pits or peach stones at the door will be allowed six (6) cents on his admission at the first performance on any evening during the week of November 11.

Sergeant Bradford Invalided Home

Sergeant C. A. Bradford of Company B, 103rd Infantry, has been invalided home on account of wounds and the results of gas. He has been in ten different French hospitals, after having seen much active service. He was in all the important battles with the 26th Division up to August 15, the date of his last wound.

His brother, R. H. Bradford of Main street, visited him in a New York City hospital Sunday and found him well and cheerful, despite his loss of almost fifty pounds in weight. However, he expects to be fully recovered in the spring. The hospital authorities have notified him that he will be sent to an Arizona Army Hospital Monday.

Sergeant Bradford attended Punchard in 1912, later graduating from Amherst Agricultural College. He was on the Honor Roll of the Grenfell class at the Free church, being one out of thirty-eight men from that class in active service.

Hallowe'en Party

At the home of Dow Hamblin on Chestnut street a very jolly Hallowe'en party was held last Saturday evening. The guests came in costume, and these costumes in themselves were enough to cause much amusement and hilarity, even without the added pleasure of Hallowe'en games, dancing and good things to eat. Those who enjoyed this party were Miss Ruth Parker, Miss Emily Walker, Miss Margaret Cronin, Miss Ruth Cates, Miss Gladys Ralph, Miss Esther Boutwell; and James Brewster, Hardwick Bigelow, Harold Godfrey, Charles Dalton, Kenneth Coleman and Dow Hamblin.

Fire at Home of C. J. Francis

Yesterday morning the fire department responded with Combinations 1 and 2, to a call from the home of C. J. Francis at 57 Bartlet street. The fire was in the cellar behind a stove there and but little damage was done, due to the quick work of the department. No one seemed to know what had caused this fire.

Abbot Academy Notes

On Saturday, November 2, Abbot Academy and Bradford Academy held a hare-and-hound chase at Abbot. The teams were composed of an equal number of girls from each academy; in all, there were sixteen hares and thirty-two hounds. The result was a victory for the hares by two points. After the chase the Senior class of Abbot entertained the visiting Seniors with a picnic supper at Pomps pond.

Fifty Abbot Academy girls attended a corn-husking at Mr. Foster's farm on November 6. In the contest Miss Virginia McCauley's team won over Miss Marion Nichols's. In all, 153 bushels of corn were husked in an hour. After the husking refreshments were served.

SAILORS MEMORIAL DAY

To Be Observed in Christ Church Next Sunday

Sailors' Memorial Sunday will be observed in Christ Church on next Sunday at the 10.30 service. It is especially fitting, in these tremendous times when sailors are doing so much to help make the world safe for humanity, to pray for those in peril on the sea.

"Eternal Father! strong to save,
Whose arm hath bound the restless wave,
Who bid'st the mighty ocean deep
Its own appointed limits keep:
O hear us when we cry to Thee,
For those in peril on the sea."

The order of service will be as follows:

Organ Prelude
Processional, Hymn "O 'twas a joyful sound to hear" Parker
Venite, "O come, let us sing unto the Lord" Randall
Te Deum in A Fay
Benedictus, "Blessed be the Lord God of Israel" Arnold
Hymn, "Almighty Father, hear our cry, as o'er the trackless deep we roam" Miller
Hymn, "Eternal Father! strong to save" Dykes
Offertory Anthem, "The God of Love My Shepherd Is" Michelsen
Orison Hymn, "God Save Our Splendid Men" Carey
Recessional, Hymn "The Church's one foundation in Jesus Christ her Lord" Wesley
Organ Prelude

There will be a full choir rehearsal in the parish house this evening at 7.30 o'clock. At 8.15 o'clock the auxiliary choir of young ladies are requested to be at the parish house for a special rehearsal which is to be held for the practice of the songs that are to be sung in the town hall on Sunday evening. All members of the parish are also cordially invited and urged to attend the special rehearsal at 8.15 o'clock.

War Stamps Sales Good

The sale of War Savings Stamps to date is $105,650, according to the announcement of F. S. McDonald, the assistant postmaster. This is equal to $15 per capita and is quite a bit toward the quota of $144,000 for the year.

Boy Played with Gunpowder

John Doyle, the 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Doyle of Holt road, is recovering at the Lawrence General Hsopital, from injuries caused by playing with gunpowder last week. He and several other boys found the powder in the trenches on Brothers Field. They filled a section of gas pipe with it, touched a match to it, and the result was very serious for John Doyle. A finger is gone and his face was badly burned, but the other boys were uninjured.

Andrew Basso's Brother Wounded

Joseph Basso, the 21-year-old brother of Andrew Basso, fruit dealer of this town, was wounded in many places by one shell. His home is in Providence, R. I., and he was on his way to France with a Red Cross unit when the transport was hit by a submarine and with it came as many as ten wounds for this one man. He was taken to a hospital in France but recently was transferred to a New Jersey hospital.

Now he is happy to be alive and about again, and he has great praise for the skill of the doctors and surgeons over there. His sister is a Red Cross nurse in France.

WAR WORK CAMPAIGN

House to House Canvass Begins Monday to Raise Quota of $20,000

Andover's drive for the United War Work Campaign begins Monday, November 11, and on that day canvassers will go from house to house endeavoring to raise seventy-five hundred dollars. Our quota is twenty thousand. Mr. Jones, the chairman of the committee and Mr. Shipman, the publicity agent are most certain that we can raise our fifty per cent additional sum, making thirty thousand dollars in all, but it is the house to house canvass that will be difficult.

Many persons may be tired of going to the door and finding there some one who seems to have the sole desire of gathering in money. Isn't it far easier however, to have some one come right to your door and take your money than to have to go out and have the bother of placing it yourself? Isn't it far easier, too, than to be the one who is going from house to house?

Everyone knows what help and comfort this money is going to carry to the boys who may be over there for months. They need your gift and let us hope that Andover will send her money freely and generously in the first two days of the drive.

The captains who have charge of the various teams will make the house to house canvass are as follows:

Center district: Captains, W. Dudley Yates and Samuel P. Hulme.

Frye Village—Capt. Walter C. Donald.

Abbott Village—Capt. Harry Sellars.

West Parish—Captains Frank H. Hardy and Edward W. Boutwell.

Holt District—Capt. William H. Jaquith, 2d.

Scotland district—Capt. Prof. Charles H. Forbes.

Ballardvale—Capt. William Shaw.

Each captain has selected his lieutenants.

St. Augustine's branch of the National Catholic War Council for the Knights of Columbus and other war activities met in the vestry of the church last week and organized as follows:

Honorary Chairman, Rev. John A. Nugent, O.S.A; parish chairman, John H. McDonald; secretary, F. H. McDonald; members of War Council: John F. O'Connell, William H. Welch, Dr. Edward C. Conroy, Dr. J. J. Daley, John Hurley, Mrs. Maurice J. Curran, Miss Rose Zalla, Miss Catherine A. Hurley, Margaret Eldred, William G. Crowley, Patrick J. Barrett, John A. Traynor, Frank Mooney, Mrs. William C. Crowley, Mrs. John H. McDonald, Miss Annie Donovan, Miss Katherine Moynihan, Mrs. Margaret Kimball.

The following committees were appointed:

Contributors List—Joseph L. Burns, chairman; recruiting list, Dr. Edward C. Conroy, chairman; Women's cooperation, Katherine Hurley, chairman; victory boys, Katherine L. Moynihan, chairman; victory girls, Margaret Kimball, chairman; emergency committee, John Hurley, chairman.

W.R.C. Notes

The members of William T. Bartlett Relief Corps, No. 127, are requested to meet at the entrance of the G.A.R. hall on Saturday afternoon, at 1.30 to attend the unveiling of the tablet at the Memorial hall for those of our local boys who have died in the great war.

RED CROSS BENEFIT

Through Mrs. Martin's Reading, the Tuesday Club Make Over $150 Dollars.

A large and enthusiastic audience had great pleasure given them last Friday evening when Mrs. Blanche Martin, under the auspices of the Tuesday Club, gave readings from Justin McCarthy's poetic play, "If I were King".

Mrs. Martin has much dramatic power and carried her audience back to the gay loose days of the fifteenth century when Francois Villon, the poet, noted for his wit, his drinking, gambling and bold stealing, ruled the court of Charles seventh for one mad, glorious week and loved, more than life itself, the beautiful Catherine, lady of the court. She impersonated the characters of the play beautifully, changing from bright, laughing youth to keen and crafty old age.

The play itself is charming, full of poetry and vivid pictures and it portrays the reckless carefree days when Villon lived and loved. It was a happy relief and relaxation to the audience to be transported in imagination to this former light-hearted age after living so intensely in these present trying days of war and illness.

This reading in Andover is the first of a series of readings which Mrs. Martin plans to give during the year. She is at present devoting her time to the raising of at least two thousand dollars to give to the American Red Cross this coming season, and the sum of money realized by the members of the Tuesday Club, has given her an excellent beginning. They have not yet received the full returns from tickets sold, but they are confident that over one hundred and fifty dollars was realized Friday.

They were disappointed at the last minute in not having the Phillip's academy orchestra play at the enterment. The interest of the audience, however, was well sustained by Mrs. Martin's glowing work, making a most successful evening which will not soon be forgotten.

Christ Church Notes

Classes in preparation for confirmation are being held in the rector's study, on Tuesdays, at 4 and 8 p.m.

The Massachusetts Branch of the Women's Auxiliary to the Board of Missions, Northeastern division, will hold its conference on Thursday, November 14, in Christ church. The outline is as follows:—

10.30 a.m.—The Holy Communion and the sermon. Preacher, the Rev. Alexander Mann, D.D., rector of Trinity church, Boston.
12.00 m.—Conference. Mrs. Paul Sterling, leader. Conference topic, "The Woman's Auxiliary and War Work".
1.15 p.m.—Luncheon.
2.15 p.m.—Addresses
Miss Eva D. Corey, Educational Secretary. Subject, "The Advent Call" (Massachusetts War Plan)
Mrs. David Slade, United Offering Treasurer
Miss Lucy C. Sturgis, Chairman of Junior Department
Miss Caroline A. Couch, Secretary to Bishop Roots of Hankow, China
4.00 p.m.—Adjournment

Soldiers' Christmas Parcels

Cartons may be obtained at the Board of Health room, town house, on Tuesday next.

Packages must be brought, unwrapped and unsealed, for inspection to the Food Conservation room (next postoffice). Postmaster McDonald and his assistants will inspect the contents, wrap and fasten the cartons, and affix the soldiers' label.

Time for inspection November 11 to 15, 2 to 4 and 7 to 8 p.m.

Bring your soldier's label for the inspector to put on the package. The Red Cross mails the parcel.

Cartons may be obtained in Ballardvale of Mr. Roy M. Haynes, and in West Parish of Mr. Frank H. Hardy.

War workers (not soldiers) abroad may receive parcels, without a label, through the Red Cross. A single carton may be obtained for each worker, and it must be inspected by the postmaster's committee.

The Red Cross has nothing to do with Navy men, except U. S. Marines.

Roll Call Meeting

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Free church held its monthly roll call meeting last Sunday evening. The subject was "Conservation of Time." The meeting was led by Gladys Napier and Alexina Harris.

Saturday night an enjoyable social was held by the society. The thing most noticeable was the absence of a great number of young men. There is hardly a boy of draft age in the society. The honor roll is almost a hundred per cent.

Officers Elected At Andover Club

Last Saturday evening a postponed meeting of the Andover Club was held in the club rooms to elect their officers for the year. Those elected were:—President, George L. Averill; vice-president, David R. Lawson; clerk, Rowland H. Lindsay; treasurer, Samuel P. Hulme directors, J. Walter Brown, Fred Cheney, Philip L. Hardy, Everett C. Hilton, and Harry Sellars.

Membership committee: Walter S. Donald and Frank A. Buttrick.

A committee composed of W. Dudley Yates, Louis A. Dane and Clarence H. Weeks, was appointed to revise the by-laws of the club and to submit their report at the December meeting.

PHILLIPS ACADEMY NOTES

School Loses Loyal Friend—War Fund Drive—Two Men in Service.

The death of George X. McLanahan, P. A. '92, is of more than passing interest to many persons in Andover not directly associated with the school, for Mr. McLanahan was a man of unusual qualities of friendship and is probably more widely and intimately known than any one else of his time in the school. He has been one of the school's most loyal supporters, in constant touch with its interests, and active in furthering its welfare. His friendly and disinterested relations with men of prominence in Washington has frequently furnished to those who were privileged to know him, access to the leaders in the affairs of the nation as well as to representatives from foreign countries. In his death the school loses one of its staunchest friends and the country a citizen of the highest ideals.

Mr. McLanahan was a lawyer, his offices being in the Union Trust Building in Washington. He had many philanthropic interests. He was very active in the International Y. M. C. A. and had recently been made a trustee of Berea College. The following notice was taken from the Washington Herald:

"George Xavier McLanahan, lawyer and former owner of The Washington Herald, died at Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, Tuesday evening.

Mr. McLanahan became owner of The Washington Herald in 1908, and until it passed into the hands of Clinton T. Brainard, the present owner, remained in active control of the paper.

"His death came after a long illness, treatment for which he had been undergoing at the Baltimore hospital for the last seven months. The preceding winter had been spent on the Pacific Coast in a vain search for health.

"Mr. McLanahan was born in New Hamburg, N. Y., in 1872, the son of George and Helen McLanahan. Part of his primary education was received in Washington at the Columbia school, and in Dresden, Saxony. After his return from abroad, he was sent to Andover College, and afterwards to Yale, with which schools he had been closely connected until the time of his death.

During his life in Washington he was especially interested in education and in religious work. For the last few years he was treasurer of Gallaudet College trustee of Berea College, Ky., president Association of Washinton president of the Alumni Board of Phillips Academy, Andover; deacon of the Church of the Covenant and on several of the committees of the local Y.M.C.A.

Since his graduation from Yale University he had never given up his close connection with the university and fraternal organization joined while a student there. He had been for many years a member of the Psi Upsilon council, and Yale Advisory Board.

Mr. McLanahan leaves a wife and four children, Mrs. Caroline Duer McLanahan, George X. McLanahan, Jr. Duer, Helen and Louise McLanahan.

Funeral services will be held at two o'clock Thursday afternoon from his home 2031 Q street, northwest."

The War Work Drive in the school will take place next week. Plans are now being laid. A joint committee of the faculty and students will have the matter in charge, meeting from time to time to organize and direct the work. Plans for the campaign were briefly outlined at a meeting of the school after chapel on Thursday morning, when George B. Gibson, now serving with the Marines and located at Paris Island, South Carolina, told briefly of the work being done by the several organizations in the army camps.

The news of the sudden death of Hobart E. Early, P. A. '21, captain of last year's baseball team and well known in Andover brings home closer the extent of the ravages of the recent epidemic of influenza in army camps. Early had only just joined the Marines and had reported for duty at Paris Island, South Carolina. His illness was comparatively short, and until a few hours before his death seemed to be distinctly on the wane. The relapse which he suffered just at the time when he was believed to be on the road to recovery, proved too much even for his splendid strength. The funeral was held at his home in Medford on Wednesday afternoon. Members of his society and the academy acted as bearers, and Marines were present and fired the customary volley and sounded taps at the grave.

A letter has been received from the father of lieutenant William H. Taylor, P. A. '18, who went to France with the Ambulance Unit a year ago last spring, and who later joined the aviation corps, giving details of the battle in the air in which lieutenant Taylor lost his life on September 18th. Lieut. Taylor was attacked by three Fokker machines. He fought bravely, but was hopelessly outnumbered, and fell within the German lines.

Wm. J. Myatt Injured at Camp Jackson

Private William Joseph Myatt of Battery C, 60th U.S. Field Artillery, has been in some kind of an accident according to a message sent to his father, Norman Myatt of Highland road. He is stationed at Camp Jackson in South Carolina and is now in the base hospital there recovering "as well as can be expected."

Private Myatt is twenty-four years old and enlisted last May. He was stationed at Fort Myer, Va., as a member of the U.S. Cavalry but over a month ago he was transferred to Camp Jackson. His brother, John, is a member of the U.S. Guards and is stationed in Springfield.

MEMORIAL SERVICE

Tablet to Be Unveiled at Two O'Clock in front of Memorial Hall Library

It looks now as if the memorial tablet which is to be unveiled at Memorial Hall tomorrow will bear not only the the names of the first of Andover citizens to die in the great war, but also the last. We hope so. The names which will stand on the shield, hanging below the porch, will be these:

William Pert
William Rae
James Cavan
David C. S. Croall
Patrick O'Neil
Charles A. Young
Michael Joseph Daly
Phillips G. Morrison
Thomas W. Platt, Jr.

The exercises at the Hall will take place at two o'clock. If the weather is fair and reasonably warm, they will be outside the hall. Otherwise, they will take place in the library. The program follows:

Announcement of the Beginning of the United War Work Campaign — Frederick H. Jones, Chairman
Recommendation of the Campaign to the Town — Harry M. Eames, First Selectman
Opening Remarks — N. C. Hamblin, Chairman Memorial Exercises

Wm. A. R. Gordon Wounded

A letter came last week saying that Private Wm. A. R. Gordon of the Seaforth Highlanders, British Expeditionary Forces was severely wounded, Sept. twenty-ninth. In the second battle of Cambrai he was hit by shrapnel in the right thigh so that twelve stitches were taken in it. He was in the hospital for eleven days, then he got up too soon with the result that the wound was broken open so that he had to go back to bed again. He was still in the hospital at Newport, South Wales, at the time of writing, October twelfth.

His letter told of having been over the top six times in less than two months and of the narrow escape he had of losing his leg altogether. He also tells of how good the people of Wales are to the wounded and that it seems great to be in a clean bed after lying for months in the open in all kinds of weather.

He enlisted August 4, 1917, with the McLean Kilties, Canadian Forces, for England where he received his training. He was soon transferred to the infantry, and had been in active service for seven months before being wounded.

He is a member of Clan Johnston, O.S.C No. 185 of Andover.

Free Church Notes

Rally Day will be observed at the Free church next Sunday, with presentation of promotion certificates to members of the Cradle Roll and of the Primary Department at the morning service, and with special exercises in the Sunday School.

The Men's Club will hold their regular monthly meeting on Tuesday evening next, when Arthur H. Washburn, instructor in Phillips Academy, will speak on "Personal Impressions from Travel in Turkey, Bulgaria, Austria and France."

The Senior Christian Endeavor society held a very enjoyable sociable in the church last Saturday evening.

The ladies of the church offer special attractions to the public this evening in an old-fashioned Harvest Supper at 6.30 o'clock, followed by a Thanksgiving play, "Pictures in the Firelight." Tickets, 35 cents.

Exhibit of Navaho Indian Blankets and Rugs

The Navaho Indians of New Mexico and Arizona have large herds of sheep and make blankets and rugs of native wool. The present high price of wool has caused these Indians to stop blanket weaving. Through one of their traders, Mr. Moorehead has received about forty of these Indian blankets and rugs. They are on exhibition in the basement of the Archaeology building. They are all sizes and most of them in several colors. They make attractive couch covers and floor rugs. Any of the persons in Andover who care to see the blankets will please call at Mr. Moorehead's office and he will be glad to show them.

Sugar Now Three Pounds Per Person per Month

Notwithstanding the fact that up to the present time every figure available showed that two pounds of sugar per person per month was all the sugar that our people could expect, we are now pleased to announce to the people of Massachusetts that we have been in constant close touch with the Federal Food Administration in connection with the entire sugar situation, and we now find that ,owing to the increase in shipping facilities, it has been deemed wise by the Federal Food Administration ,to our great pleasure, to increase the allotment, beginning November 1, 1918, to three pounds of sugar per person per month.

The people of Massachusetts certainly deserve this additional amount, because their loyalty in carrying out the request of the Federal Food Administration has been of tremendous help in connection with the whole sugar situation.

This increase of 50 per cent will apply to grocers, hotels, clubs and restaurants who have already received their certificates for November. They will be sent additional certificates to cover the 50 per cent increase.

All rules limiting the consumer to two pounds per person per month are modified to allow three pounds per person per month.

There will be no increase in the allotment to Classes A, B, and D, which include manufacturers and bakers.

H. B. ENDICOTT
Food Administrator.

Interesting Letter from Scotland

Mrs. Sharpe of Red Spring road, has received a very interesting letter from Aberdeen, Scotland, telling of a visit to the old Scottish city by her son, Roy, of the 3rd Canadian R. B. Company D, Canadian Expeditionary Forces. Roy Sharpe enlisted in the Canadian Army last summer and was soon sent overseas to Britain.

2 Hamilton Place
Aberdeen, Scotland
October 16, 1918

Dear Mrs. Sharpe:—

I am sure that you must have been a good mother to your soldier boy, for he seemed never to be tired telling me about his home. I am sure that you must miss his cheering presence in your home. He was telling me that sometimes he was difficult to please, but now he sees differently—he is so much healthier living an outdoor life—that he would not be difficult to please when he goes back home.

This is how I met your boy. A great number of Canadian boys like to come to Scotland and your boy amongst them. My husband went to the railway station at 4 o'clock last Saturday to meet our daughter; while there he found four Canadian soldiers who had nowhere to go at that hour, so he brought the lads home. They had a wash, a good meal, and a rest before a comfortable fire till the morning was well on, so that they could find their bearings. Then on Sunday evening they came again and spent a little while with us.

I am writing all the mothers, as I know every mother likes to hear about her boy, especially at a time like this, when so many are in danger. I was telling the boys on Sunday night that the fighting would be over before they went to France.

We are very glad that your President is so resolute with the German war party.

With kind regards and hopes that you will get your boy back safe and sound is the sincere wish of a Scotch woman who likes to make the boys feel at home at her house.

No Mystery in Meat

Some things are so simple that they have to be explained again and again. When things are obvious, people keep looking for mysteries behind them.

So it is with the packing business. The mere size of Swift & Company confuses many. Because their imaginations are not geared up to scale, they believe there must be magic in it somewhere—some weird power.

Swift & Company is just like any other manufacturing business run by human beings like yourself; it takes in raw material on the one hand and turns out a finished product on the other.

Swift & Company keeps down the "spread," or the expense absorbed between raw and finished material, to as low a figure as possible. (If it didn't it would be put out of business by others who do.)

How much Swift & Company pays for the raw material, and how much it gets for the finished product, depends upon conditions which Swift & Company does not control.

It depends entirely upon how much people want the finished product, and how much raw material there is available to make it from.

The profits of Swift & Company amount to less than one cent per pound on all meats and by-products—less than one-fourth of a cent on beef.

MOTHERS' CLUB MEETING

Mrs Evelyn Reed Ahearn of England Gave Interesting Talk to Enthusiastic Audience

Wednesday afternoon at the Punchard school the Andover Mothers' Club held their November meeting.

The meeting opened with the singing of "The Mother's Hymn" and after the reports of the treasurer, who gave as an interesting item, the results of a cake sale held at Mrs. Fosters, the president, Mrs. James J. Feeney read two letters from the mothers of the club's adopted French children. These letters, written in French were translated and showed much gratitude and appreciation to the kind godmothers of their fatherless children.

Mrs. Feeney then introduced, as the speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. Evelyn Reed Ahearn, a former friend of the Mothers' Club and remembered by many Andover people for her enthusiastic work as teacher in the John Dove school before her marriage several years ago. She was the founder and first president of this club at that time.

Mrs. Ahearn, whose husband Capt. Ahearn is in the English Medical Service over in Greece, came with her two sons to this country a little over a year ago. She has been visiting the various members of her large family whom she had not seen for quite awhile and her joy at being back in her own country was evident in all she had to say.

Her talk was most informal and gave an entertaining account of the splendid spirit of the English women who have done so much in their country to help fill the places of their men in service. She says there is practically no business in which they are not now represented. No work seems to be too difficult for them and no sacrifice is too great to make. She spoke of the increasing benefit which has come to England through allowing the women to vote and take their part in the government which had been growing so slack and inefficient through the lack of interest and time given it by the men.

It was most amusing to hear of the life of a housekeeper in England, one who had been used to the many modern conveniences which we American women accept as a matter of course. She said that a whole ship would be none too small to carry back the many articles she wishes to take home with her; articles such as a kitchen cabinet, a dish drainer, hard wood floors, etc.! Her account of thedifficulty she had in obtaining from England a passport and of her trip across; in fact, her whole talk gave a vivid picture of life under war conditions and it brought home to her enthusiastic audience in a realistic and sympathetic way the exciting days which an active and witty woman has experienced in that war-burdened country.

The meeting was concluded by an informal tea party, in charge of Mrs. Carl Elander, Mrs. John Ralph and Mrs. James Walker, and made a pleasant part of a most enjoyable afternoon.

Sugar Prices in Many Lands

The total sugar consumption in the United States for the fiscal year 1917-18 was 8,218,582,000 pounds. In Great Britain the total consumption for 1916 amounted to 3,131,198,000 pounds. In France for the same period it was 1,141,242,000 pounds; in Italy, 553,906,000 pounds; while in Canada for the year ending March 31, 1917, the total amount of sugar consumed was 704,400,000 pounds.

The wholesale cost of sugar per 100 pounds on May 1, was $8.07 in Canada, $12.59 in England, $1228. in France, and $26.30 in Italy, as compared with $7.30 in this country. The average wholesale cost per 100 pounds in the allied countries was $12.52½; so that if the United States had paid the same price for sugar as that paid by the allied countries our national sugar bill would have been increased by $429,419,864.50.

In Sweden sugar is now selling at 14 cents a pound, Spain at 19 cents, Brazil at 25 cents, Portugal at 21.4 cents, and India at 14 cents.

This makes it a little easier doesn't it, to go without that extra spoonful every morning?

ALL WORK TOGETHER

As Fighting Army, so must Civil Army be One in War Work Campaign

Everybody has known of the quiet work of the Salvation Army in this country, and now the boys across are writing home about the big helpful spirit of this organization at the front. They have their kitchens and their rest huts everywhere and active firing does not daunt these brave workers.

Evangeline Booth, of the Salvation Army in America, has written to show that back of all the seven organizations which are included in this War Work Drive, is a unity of purpose binding them together, but, they nevertheless, do not need to lose their identities anymore than the Allied Nations.

"All personal and private leanings, whether they pertain to the church, politics, social ethics or the imaginary lines of caste, should be swept aside in the crisis of war, and the guiding thought should be service. War relief must be rooted in a genuine determination to help without giving hindrance. It can best be done by the practical organizations, qualifying under the rules of common sense, as a unified whole. If it was good for the Allies to weld their giant armies and navies into one vast unit, and place the same under one control, it is good for the war relief organizations to adopt the same ploicy-for in unity, findeed, there is strength.

I do not mean by this that any organization or particular creed or denomination should aink its entire individuality as in a great melting pot for such unified service. Bur I do mean that there should be a concert of action; and in consequence, a more highly intelligent effort to reach the point of saturation in the work to be done.

When the armies of the Allies were placed under General Foch and the strategy of war was left, so far as the Allies were concerned, to a single war council, it was not found necessary to erase the marks of identity from any unit. French soldiers remained just as French as ever they had been. The British Tommies are still their old selves. The Americans, assuredly, forfeited none of their individuality as the most marvelous fighting machine put together as if overnight, in the history of mankind.

Yet they became, of a sudden, cogs in a vast machine. They toiled and struggled for a common purpose. And when General Foch finally was cloaked with the authority and power which enabled him to direct the forces of righteousness, each contingent in its place, and without duplication or confusion, that instant Germany was beaten When co-ordination swept through the forces of the Allies, Germany no longer had a chance to win.

So, in war relief. Never apart in our righteousness, we must think as one, strike as one, suffer as one, and rejoice as one—if we are going to be worth anything at all to the soldier and to the sailor, in his extremity.

This is the spirit of the seven great war relief organizations our president has commissioned to do this big thing—the spirit to stick alongside the boys sent to do the battling, and help them materially and spiritually to withstand the greatest ordeal in the world's history—to oversome the greatest monster of evil that has ever reared its head.

We seven will do the job, Mothers and Fathers!
Trust us! Help us!
We are seven—we are one!

Need for Using Fish

The necessity of saving meats is not over; nor will it come to an immediate end with the war. The action of the Federal Food Administration is limiting to one kind of meat at a meal, service of food in public places, shows this plainly. This action only serves to emphasize further the fact that these days patriotic Americans are, as far as possible, substituting other foods for meat. Vegetables of many kinds are exceptionally high and more than ordinarily scarce this season. Cheese, urged as a substitute for meat, is also within the conservation measures taken by the Federal Food Administration. What then, may one logically substitute for meat, without in any way embarrassing the Government? There is but one answer; Fish.

Fish, although its supply is by no means over-adequate, is the one food consistent and liberal consumption of which will not interfere with Government activities or government mandates. There are several reasons for this;—

Fish is an automatically supplied product, i. e. it requires neither labor nor capital for production. It uses labor and capital only in gathering the crop.

Fish is a highly perishable food in its natural state, and for that reason is not so readily exportable as meats or vegetables. It is therefore the most logical food product for home consumption.

The catching of fish has no strictly limited seasons. Unlike meat, edible fish are always available; unlike vegetables, edible fish (with some minor exceptions) have no varying seasons. The catching and marketing of fish is therefore an every-day-in-the-year business, engaged in by a force of specially trained men. As the men manning fishing vessels or engaged in the industry are today for one reason or another draft-exempt, this personnel is not subject to change.

Fish can be cooked without the use of prohibited fats. The market affords almost unlimited variety. There is no waste to fish as compared to meat.

The waiter in a Pittsburg hotel who has invested "his many years' savings, amounting to $5000," in Liberty Bonds, has probably spent his income freely as he went along.—Boston Globe.

UNIVERSITY EXTENSION

Americanization is the Aim of Massachusetts Board of Education.

In order to help promote good citizenship or Americanization, the Massachusetts Board of Education have established a Department of University Extension which will work with industries, public schools and other agencies toward bringing about English as the common language. The following outline has been prepared to aid in this work for all.

There are more than 118,000 persons in Massachusetts, ten years of age and over, who are unable to read and write in any language.

In addition, there are more than 215,000 persons, ten years of age and over, who are unable to read and write English.

Altogether, there are nearly 350,000 persons, 90 per cent of whom are twenty-one years of age or more, who cannot cooperate with efficiency in the government's war work.

Practically all of the great industries in Massachusetts are manned by foreign born.

Particularly is this true of the woolen and cotton industries where the foreign born constitute seven-eighths and nine-tenths, respectively ,of the working force.

With these facts in mind, James A. Moyer, director of the Department of University Extension, State Board of Education, yesterday announced plans by which industry can further help to win the war, contribute to the success of the Americanization movement, promote good citizenship, and benefit both industry and labor by cooperating with the department in teaching English to foreign born workers.

Industry already is cooperating to a large extent, and the Department of University Extension, which is working in coordination with other agencies including the state bureau of immigration, plans for the establishment of classes for the teaching of English wherever there are non-English speaking workers.

Included in the department's suggestion to industry made yesterday by Director Moyer are these:

1. Organize classes to be taught by teachers furnished by local public school authorities, or by volunteer teachers recruited from the community, or by factory workers, such as foremen, on factory time, or by persons employed by the factory for this particular purpose.

(Such classes could also be located in rooms outside the factory and conducted in whole or in part upon factory time, according to convenience and equipment.)

2. Appoint a superintendent, foreman or other official charged with duty of urging immigrant employees to attend such classes or night schools to learn English and obtain vocational training.

3. Insert notices of classes and benefits in foreign language papers and distribute posters and circulars, printed in foreign languages, on subject.

4. Register and list all non-English speaking employes for assistance of school officials and schools.

5. Request school authorities to enroll employes in plant whenever possible.

6. Hold plant meetings and invite school officials, teachers and mothers to address employes on advantages of classes.

7. Encourage attendance at such classes and resultant increase in efficiency and economy by bonuses, wage increases, promotion, or time off while attending class.

The Department of University Extension has engaged the services of Mr. Charles F. Towne, an expert in immigrant education, and is cooperating with industry in this work.

By assisting employers to arouse the interest od foremen, skilled workers and leading representatives of foreign groups employed at their factories in the national campaign to make English the common language.

By training teachers, some of whom are factory employes, some public school teachers and others recruited from the community.

By preparing lesson and instruction sheets for the use of teachers.

By assisting employers of labor and public school authorities to join hands in the work.

By establishing standards of teacher training, class organization and equipment and of pupil achievement.

All services of the department in this connection are free to both employer and worker.

"Long experiment," Mr. Moyer said yesterday, "has shown that the teaching of English benefits the employer materially by reducing accidents and compensation costs and increasing efficiency, factory spirit, and output.

"It also benefits the worker," he continued, "by enabling him to obtain increased wages and better home conditions. Through it he obtains the pride of citizenship.

"The war has caused thinking persons to realize the need of national unity. National unity can be based only upon complete understanding, and complete understanding is possible only through a common language.

"The importance of this work is not generally understood just now; the people at large are only just beginning to perceive its advantages to those first concerned and to them. Every day the the work gains. One of its first and most important effects has been to destroy enemy propaganda."

The Department is now distributing copies of a special bulletin containing information in detail on the subject. Copies or further information may be obtained by writing to Department of University Extension, Room 109, State House, Boston, Mass.

Rye Fritters, Old Style, for Dessert

One pint of milk to 3 eggs, 1 teaspoon of salt, some liked a little sugar; then add rye meal for a thick batter and drop from a tablespoon wet in cold water into boiling fat.

This recipe was sometimes varied with applebits, then a little sweetening was used, grated rind of lemon also came handy. If substitutes are used, 1 quart of flour to one pint of milk can be tried, as substitutes are uncertain "swellers", but the batter can be nearly as thick as for doughnuts that are rolled.

The family recipe most successful in 1861-65 came from Mrs. N. F. Flint's mother, who gave it to me: One pint of sour milk and 1 teaspoon of soda dissolved in water, 3 eggs well beaten, added to the milk, with 2 tablespoons of molasses, 1 teaspoon of salt, and rye meal for a drop batter; add the soda after half the meal has gone in. Another was 4 cups of rye to 2 eggs and 2 teaspoons of cream tartar in the flour and one scant teaspoon of soda to a cup of sweet milk if sour milk was short.

This way of treating the rye we kids all hated, was very popular. Rye coffee was particularly exasperating. Brown bread crust coffee went better and we learned to drink shells, which for some reason never failed the civil war market. I do not know anything about the cost of vegetable boiling fats for fritters, because one can't boil oil over an open flame safely, but I do know that fritters—batters boiled in fat—are fine for most desserts, with a tasty sauce, and liked by men and boys. One waiter at Judge Morton's used to make delicious fritters of which I only recall the excellent chocolate sauce served with them and alike with the small egg gems we called popovers made excellent puddings for emergencies, and time is money in these days. I have been able to use most fritter recipes containing fruit with the saute process with plenty of fat, dipping the fat over the little flat cake in my tiny omelet pan and turning it over, and all the self-raising mixtures like Aunt Jemima, Teco, etc., can serve to furnish this cheap form of dessert.

"The Rev. Dr. Hutchins begs to thank C. H. A. for the suggestion respecting the sermon by the Rev. John Barnard, but as a result of the wide circulation of the Townsman, he has received a printed copy of the sermon, and now has copies of all of Mr. Barnard's published sermons . Rev. Dr. Tucker of Newbury married a daughter of Mr. Barnard. He was a more distinguished minister than his father-in-law, and published many sermons, some of which Dr. Hutchins would be glad to purchase."

All persons are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Salem in said County of Essex, on the eighteenth day of November A.D. 1918, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any they have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Andover Townsman a newspaper published in Andover the last publication to be one day at least before said Court.

Witness, Harry R. Dow, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-fifth day of October in the year one thousand nine hundred and eighteen.

THE SOLDIERS' FRIEND

Joseph Lee, President War Camp Community Service, Tells What Their Organization Does

This war is largely a fight for people's homes—for the homes of Belgium and France—yes and of this country too, and the Boche is not finding the home-loving American boys particularly soft.

The aim of the War Camp Community Service is to prevent social starvation among our soldiers and sailors in the training camps. The danger from this source is very serious and very real. Our soldiers, sailors and marines are young men ranging largely from eighteen to thirty-one years of age. They are away from their homes and home associations—often for the first time. They are separated from their friends and neighbors, from their church, from their club or fraternity and other customary social resources and from their business associates. They are robbed of their usual forms of recreation and, most important of all, they are deprived of the society of girls and older women.

They are at the same time set down amid novel and dreary surroundings and put to work at tasks which soon become tedious and uninteresting: drill—walking up and down again—relieved by spells of ditch digging or washing dishes.

The great longing of a young man so placed is for a change—to get away and see something different from wooden barracks and dusty streets, and for some taste of those normal social relations of which they have been so suddenly deprived.

The work of the War Camp Community Service is to furnish as near as possible these social necessities.

The processes are many and interesting:

For instance:

A first sergeant of a certain company of men called up one of our headquarters to see if it was not possible for us to get up a dance or something.

"The men need it bad", he said.

The telephone was answered by one of our women workers and she said:

"When do you want the dance?"

"Tonight."

"How many girls?"

"Sixty will do, I suppose."

"We will call it eighty. I will have them there and a dozen chaperones to see that everything goes as it should and to take them home."

"You say you will get them there?"

"Yes, there and home—we have autos lent us for the purpose so don't trouble yourself any more about it."

So the dance was held, and was so successful that the sergeant told me afterwards that it had been the salvation of his company.

WAR BULLETINS

The American First army has thrown the Germans into a general retreat on a fourteen mile front. The flight is so rapid the Americans are having difficulty in maintaining contact with the enemy.

Austria has accepted the armistice terms offered by General Diaz, and hostilities against her have ended. An official announcement at Vienna tells of the signing of the armistice and says Austrian troops already have been ordered to cease hostilities.

Allied naval occupation of Constantinople is reported. Many of the warships that wedged their way through the straits took part in the memorable battle for their possession three years ago and still bear the scars. Many bluejackets lined up along deck as the fleet steamed past the ragged cliffs of Gallipoli, where many thousands of their comrades died.

The Austrian fleet at Pola, on the Adriatic, has been surrendered to the South Slav council.

Austria, torn to pieces by revolution and practically destroyed as a military power by the debacle in Italy, has disappeared as an active ally to Germany. With Turkey surrendering to the entente, Germany stands the lone belligerent of the great alliance of central powers.

The Austrian army is breaking up, thousands of troops leaving the front with red flags.

Fifteen Austrian divisions operating between the Brenta and the Piave find their retreat cut off through the capture of the mountain pass of Vadal, in the center of the battle line, by Italian and allied troops.

WASHINGTON

Washington hears that the allied war council is considering as one of the armistice terms to Germany that the entire German army be withdrawn to a line 30 miles within the German boundary, thus surrendering the entire line of the Rhine defenses. The naval conditions already have been decided on. They provide for surrender of all U boats and insure safety at sea.

Final reports to the treasury department show the fourth Liberty Loan was oversubscribed $866,000,000. Every federal reserve district made an oversubscription, Boston leading, with a percentage of 126, and New York coming sixth, with 111 per cent.

The Senate Finance Committee adopted a provision in the revenue bill to exempt from the excise taxes under Title IX, including the articles on the "luxury" list, all articles manufactured solely for export.

Charles E. Hughes' aircraft production report recommends the court martial of Col. E. A. Deeds and the criminal prosecution of three other army officers. Mr. Hughes finds that approximately $24,000.000 was wasted in the early stages of production, due chiefly to the abandonment of two types of airplanes and failure to salvage.

Charles M. Schwab and Edward N. Hurley announce that only one-sixth of the United States shipbuilding program has been completed, though 2,500,000 tons have been added, and construction will continue until the program has been carried through, no matter when peace comes.

GENERAL

Fourteen thousand persons of different faiths and creeds unite in a great meeting in Madison Square Garden, New York, to further the war work campaign. Cardinal Gibbons, Bishop Greer and Rabbi Wise take part and addresses are made by Secretary Baker and Charles E. Hughes.

In furtherance of plans soon to be announced for recruiting men into the collegiate section of the Students' Army Training Corps, college presidents and officers at institutions having such corps have been authorized to admit students who may not have the required number of credits.

Owing to the burden imposed on the grain and storage houses and elevators of the country importations of grain will be curtailed.

More than 100 persons were killed and 50 seriously injured in a tunnel crush on the Brighton Beach elevated line of the B. R. T. on the first day of the Brooklyn strike. A new motorman ran his train wildly before the crash, passengers declare. District Attorney Lewis of Kings county ordered the arrest of all B. R. T. officials. The strike was ended.

An expenditure of $34,000,000 for meats for the army was authorized.

The New York War Camp Community Service has standardized prices at canteens and service clubs for the duration of the war, so that soldiers may have food, shelter and entertainment for a day for a trifle more than $1.

The subsistence division of the Quartermaster Corps has purchased 50,000,000 pounds of prunes for our fighting forces at home and overseas during the coming year.

German owned woolen mills and other textile concerns, chemical and color companies, a magneto company and other manufacturing plants valued at more than $100,000,000 will be placed on the auction block within the next 60 days and sold to 100 per cent. Americans.

Killing frosts with ice was reported from the Mississippi-Delta.

Chairman Baruch of the War Industries Board is considering government control of the news print paper industry so that the distribution will be more even and to protect the smaller papers.

War department announced that the three American officers that escaped from Germany and reached Berne were in good health and would soon start for France.

German-American War

A special cable dispatch from the American front tells of the beginning of a general retreat by the Germans on the Argonne-Meuse front. Aviators report all the roads clogged in desperate effort to save their guns. A constant stream of prisoners is passing to the rear. On the left the French have cleared the enemy from their part of the Argonne.

Two drives were begun by the allies, Americans taking part in each. One was in Flanders toward the Scheldt below Audenarde and the other northwest of the Meuse. In the latter sector General Pershing's troops pushed forward between the river and Grandpre several miles, capturing a number of villages. On their left around Attigny the French advanced. The object of both is to turn the large forests on the north and attack Mezieres.

General Pershing's forces attacked the German positions on the front northwest of Verdun. At least a dozen villages were captured. More than 3,000 prisoners were taken.

Near the sea, where the American contingent is engaged, three bridgeheads have been established on the east bank of the Piave.

A transport carrying 6,000 American troops arrived at a British port. Only 50 cases of influenza were reported and one death.

SPORTING

Owing to the severity of the Spanish influenza in San Francisco the police department of Kansas City has ordered the boxing contests to be closed for six weeks.

Commander J. K. L. Ross bought War Pennant, Man Marvel and Motor Cop from A. L. Mincomber for $75,000.

Edward J. Thorp, formerly Columbia coach, is appointed by Walter Camp to direct football team at New London submarine base.

November 23 has been set as the date for the football game between the Harvard radio and Princeton aviator elevens at Polo Ground in aid of the sports fund for Uncle Sam.

Jim Coffey, the Dublin Giant, after a long lay-off, has decided to take up boxing again.

Major William B. Dean, former West Point football star and acting division machine gun instructor at Camp Dodge, Ia., is dead from pneumonia, which developed after influenza. Dean, twice unanimous choice of critics for all-American halfback, was directly responsible for West Point's victories over Yale in 1910 and 1913.

Columbia's football team has lost one of its best men, Charles Shaw, halfback, having been ordered to an aviation training school.

The entry of the thoroughbred stallion Adams Express, owned by the United States government, has been received for the National Horse Show, New York.

FOREIGN

Italian forces landed at Trieste, and Italian armies occupied Trent, the two main objectives of Italy in the war. More than 100,000 Austro-Hungarian prisoners were taken and more than 3,000 guns.

The German war council is reported by Berlin papers to be strongly opposed to the abdication of the Kaiser. While no unanimous, binding action has been taken, there is said to be a growing unanimity of feeling that he should remain.

The Swiss army is being cut to a strict minimum. Only border guards to prevent smuggling and espionage are being kept.

An approaching crisis in the Spanish cabinet is foreseen in the resignation of Senor Dato, foreign minister, growing out of Spain's negotiations with Germany over interned ships seized, following the sinking of Spanish ships by U boats. The fall of the whole Maura ministry is expected.

Soldiers in sympathy with the population at Budapest have proclaimed a republic and have seized all of the government buildings.

Street battles are taking place in Vienna, with rioters singing the "Marseillaise," waving yellow flags and yelling, "Down with the Hapsburgs!"

AVIATORS MUST DO "STUNTS"

Feats That Seem Foolhardy Really Are Most Necessary in the Training of Airmen.

Before the war there was, says Edwin Bidwell Wilson in the Yale Review, much criticism of professional exhibiting aviators who, to thrill spectators, put their machines into all sorts of dare-devil attitudes and frequently themselves came suddenly down to death. In fighting, the ability to do all manner of "stunts" is essential. The more completely a pilot can control his machine, the more easily he can toss it hither and thither—cutting figure-eights, looping the loop, nose diving and tail diving—the better chance he has for his own life and the more certain he is to get his opponent. Sad as are the continual reports of death by accident at our aviation training camps, we may rest assured that for an untrained pilot to go overseas to the front is almost certainly fatal, and that for every life lost in training, many are saved in fighting. Fortunately airplanes today are so much stronger structurally and so much better equipped and controlled than before the war, that this necessary "stunting" in school and on the field is no longer really dangerous—the real danger now lies in physical inability to "stunt." Not only must the pilot of the single-seated fighting scout be thoroughly expert on the wing, he also must be a crack shot with his machine gun. Small wonder that it takes months and months to train an aviator who may develop into an ace.

HAS GOOD WORD FOR CROW

Australian Writer Points Out Occasions When Bird Becomes a Real Benefactor to Mankind.

There are those who say that the crow deserves no mercy. There is no other pest eradicator, imported or otherwise, doing its bit so patriotically as the self-same crow. In Bananaland, Australia, says the Sydney Bulletin, the ravages of the sheep-maggot fly must make a loss of hundreds of thousands of pounds worth of jumbuck every year, about the only difference in one season being that the damage is probably greater than the last. Were it not for the bird whom no one has a good word for, the fly pest would soon duplicate itself with losses to sheep-owners increased accordingly. Every dead sheep or piece of offal in the bush is the depository of the eggs of unimaginable numbers of prospective sheep destroyers. Just about the time that the grubs are the size of a grain of rice, and a few days before they burrow into the soil, where they remain for about 15 days before coming forth, as a developed sheep-maggot fly, Brother Crow spies out the colony. Then he sends the glad tidings by wireless system, and all the family within range hurries to the banquet. When it is over a supply of grubs for the next meal has to be found elsewhere.

New Explosive.

The Oil, Paint and Drug Reporter mentions a new explosive being tested by the government which will save a considerable amount of glycerin. It is called nitrobyronel and is the product of Dr. Byron E. Eldred. It is claimed that it blows a chamber twice the size of that caused by T. N. T. (trinitrotoluol). In the manufacture of nitrobyronel neither nitroglycerin nor toluol is used. It is a hydrocarbon obtained by a by-product in coke-oven processes.

It is estimated that 50,000,000 pounds of glycerin is used in American industrial concerns, and a big saving in this important material, now growing scarce, can be effected through the employment of nitrobyronel.

If a shortage of glycerin should become imminent, the Oil, Paint and Drug Reporter believes that the government would promptly start in to manufacture nitrobyronel.

The Least of These.

It is not the support of a nation buying billions of dollars' worth of Liberty bonds, breaking bottles over the sterns of new ships, knitting socks or cheering us in the movies that brings home to us the magnitude of our trust.

It is all fine, but it is all too big for any one man of us to grasp. But we appreciate how great our trust is when we hear that the folks have had two pounds of sugar in six weeks, that the lady next door let her bread burn in the excitement of reading our last letter, and that the lady next door to her is working in an office and keeping the children in school while her husband is over here.—The Stars and Stripes.

Forced to Move.

"We've got to have a bigger house."

"Outgrown the present place?"

"No. We have rooms enough, in fact more than we need, but the cellar is too small."

"What's the idea?"

"We can't store six tons of soft coal in anything less than the basement of a church."

Hospital Humor.

In an American hospital in France a lieutenant who had lost both his legs in battle received a package from his wife. In it were six pairs of socks. Raising himself as best he could in the cot, the lieutenant said:

"Say, boys, what am I going to do with these now?"

"I guess you're just out of luck," was the reply.

IDEAS ABOUT AGE ARE WRONG

Writer Complains That World Thinks of All Men As If They Were Young.

It is the fashion nowadays to speak of a youth of eighteen as if he were a child, and of a man of thirty-five as if he were yet growing. The ancients had no such ideas, and it has taken the lack of seriousness of the past three or four generations to spread them as they are. I often remember with pleasure a reference of Guy Patin—the charming literary physician of the seventeenth century—to a M. Lenglet, a man of twenty-six, professor of rhetoric at the College d'Harcourt, rector of the Paris university. Guy Patin says a man of twenty-six, as he might have said a man of forty-six; there is not the least intention of contrasting this man's years with his high position. William Pitt was not supposed either, to be a crude youth, and the French revolutionists—most of them men between twenty-five and thirty-five—were never taxed with immaturity.

We think of all men who are not elderly as if they were young men, liable to the mistakes of young men, and this not infrequently leads them to act as if they really were very young men. But most lads of seventeen are clear about their ethical code, and who is there who has gathered some experience, and has not found that the possibility of foregoing the cleanliness of their souls is more unpleasant to them than to most of their seniors?—Ernest Dimmet, in Atlantic Monthly.

JUST PART OF DAILY GRIND

Wounds and Death Mere Incidents to American Soldiers When Duty Sounds Its Call.

There were four of them, and their mission was to transport a machine gun to a wooded hilltop commanding the enemy lines. It was not very far to look at. But they had to crawl the entire distance under fire. All night long they crawled, except when they froze into stillness under the light of the star shells. Before they were halfway there, two of them were wounded and had to work their way back to the lines over the same perilous ground. The other two kept on. The danger increased as they approached the top of the hill. Both of them were bleeding from flesh wounds. Both were spent with the exertion of the long ascent dragging their gun. But their only thought was to do what they had come to do. Just at dawn they rounded the top of the hill. The first thing they saw were two German officers standing with binoculars sweeping the American lines. Quick as thought, without waiting to place their gun, one "Yank held it while the other fired. The officers went down, and the enemy guns woke up. The two boys made cover with their gun and answered the fire. Before the day had fairly broken, they had "cleaned out" the nest of enemy guns and had their own gun advantageously placed.

Aerial Postal Service.

Negotiations for aerial postal service have been completed between the British and Dutch governments, and Holland is very busy making final arrangements. The journey from Amsterdam to London would take but one and one-half or two hours. The Dutch military airmen, who have been in training since the beginning of the war, are to act as pilots and the ministry of war is lending full co-operation to the scheme. On the same lines an air service between Amsterdam and Groigen is also being arranged. Ground for large airdromes is being prepared near the Dutch metropolis.—Scientific American.

Austrian Child-Slaves.

The report of a parliamentary committee appointed to investigate conditions surrounding child labor in Austria discovered a most deplorable condition, according to the Arbeiter Zeitung of Vienna. More than one-third of all schoolchildren are engaged in some kind of work. In some districts all the children of school age are working. Out of every 100 schoolchildren between six and eight years, 18 are at work; between nine and ten, 35; between eleven and twelve, 50, and between thirteen and fourteen, 52. Two-fifths of these children have been working from the time they were five or six years old.

Accurate Shooting.

In France a German plane, swooping around a farmhouse, was startled and soon driven away by very accurate rifle fire. At least the firing was accurate enough to convince Fritz that he was in no safe neighborhood.

But he didn't know that the rifle was being handled by a lieutenant colonel in the American army, who, enraged at the audacity of the hostile birdman, grabbed the weapon and soon had the "supremacy of the air" in that particular locality well under control.

One Way Out.

Two bluejackets were in the washroom washing clothes, preparatory to the weekly inspection. They were both regulars and had enlisted for four years. One of them had been in the service one year, and was rather tired of being on the station so long, and expressed his sentiments to that effect. The other, looking up at his discontented "buddie," said, "Well, if you don't like it, give three years' notice and quit the navy."

The Commission for Relief in Belgium

Mr. Hoover stated to-day that a program for the next twelve months had been arranged for the relief of the ten million Belgians and French people now within territory occupied by the Germans. This program is estimated estimated to cost during the twelve months, for purchase and transportation, approximately two hundred and eighty million dollars. The finance has been arrangedon the basis of advances to be made by loans from the United States to the Belgian and French governments in amounts sufficient to pay for the material purchased in the United States. The British and French governments are advancing in Europe the sums necessary to meet the expenditures made there for shipping and for foodstuffs coming from quarters other than the United States. Foodstuffs are delivered through the Commission up to the Belgian frontier, where the distribution and rationing are taken charge of by Belgian and French organizations, which were organized by the Americans in the early stages of the war.

The security of both imported and native food production from German requisition is guaranteed by the Dutch and Spanish governments, who maintain agents in the occupied area to see that the production and distribution are not interfered with by the German Army

The Belgian and French population in the occupied territory are in desperate need of clothing, as they have now been four years without the import of textiles, and there is, of course, no local production .The Relief Commission has from year to year been supplying large quantities of sedond-hand clothing and cloth, from which the deficients in the population have been supplied as well as could be. The difficulties in securing newly fabricated cloth, owing to the shortage of wool and the necessities of the armies, compels the Commission to rely practically altogether upon second-hand clothing. Some twenty thousand tons of this material are needed during the next twelve months. Through the kind offices of the American Red Cross over five thousand tons have already been collected and further collections are going on. The Commission hopes that the American people will continue to support the Red Cross in supplying this great human need.

The meeting of the Andover Association which meets with the Highland Congregational church of Lowell on next Tuesday is sure to be of special interest.

Harvest Home Evening

There was a good attendance at the Harvest Home Evening in the Congregational church on Thursday evening. Every number of the program was well rendered and received round upon round of applause. The program follows: Organ Voluntary; "October's Bright Blue Weather," Ruth Parker; "When the Frost Is on the Punkin," Mrs. Irving Shaw; song, Miss Thelma Wanamaker; "Death of the Flowers," Arlene Miller; "When the Crops Are in," Alice Loomer; song, "Bringing in the Sheaves," audience; exercise by six boys; song, Kenneth Tomlinson; "Fall Fashions," Barbara Hodgkins; "Autumn Leaves," exercise by nine little girls and Barvara Loomer; "Those Pickles o' Ma's," Christine Marland; song, Miss Thelma Wanamaker; "Farmer John's Thanksgiving," Marion Matthews; song, "We Plow the Fields," audience; "Down to Sleep," Dorothy Wanamaker; song, Kenneth Tomlinson; "Autum's Mirth," Hazel Buck; song, Miss Thelma Wanamaker; "Thanksgiving Day, 1917" (written by an American soldier), Alice Eastham; song, "Come, Ye Faithful People, Come," audience; song, America.

Ballardvale Campaign

Plans are being perfected for the United War Work Campaign next week, and there will be a Union Community Service, Sunday evening, November 10, in Bradlee Hall, at seven o'clock, with addresses by Mr. John F. O'Connell of Andover, representing the Knights of Columbus, and Secretary John P. Ullom of the Y.M.C.A. Mr. O'Connell is a member of the Committee on Public Safety, and a very interesting speaker. Secretary Ullom, who was wounded in France, will tell of the work in which he was recently engaged, and will bring us first-hand reports from the boys "Over There." Mr. Willis B. Hodgkins will preside, and there will be special patriotic music.

Every person in the village ought to be interested in the work being done by the seven organizations comprising this United War Work Campaign. They keep our boys in touch with home, and furnish the only comforts, conveniences and entertainment, as well as religious service, that the boys receive at the front. The goal set for the national drive is one hundred seventy thousand dollars, and that means a generous contribution from every man and woman with earning capacity. The needs and the importance of the work demand the most generous giving, and our response to the appeal will be the test of our real appreciation of what our millions of boys are giving in the way of service and sacrifice for their country and for the world. The solicitors are organized, with William Shaw as captain, and the following lieutenants who will canvass every home in the village during the coming week:—James J. Bonner, Joseph Comber, Eldon E. Fleury, Joseph T. Lynch, William McIntyre, George R. Miller, Hugh O'Donnell, Thomas O'Donnell, William Quinn, James Scott, George Shaw, Irving Shaw, Joseph E. Stott. We are sure that they will receive a warm and generous welcome from the people of our village.

together in one drive, from the proceeds of which each will receive a definite percentage for its special uses.

The total sum asked for in the United States is $170,500,000. Andover's quota is $20,000. Toward the raising of this quota and in behalf of the continuance and extension of the splendid work of these organizations, we ask the co-operation of every man, woman and child within this area.

These organizations work in a spirit of emulation, not of rivalry. They labor as American institutions and not as Sectarian societies. In the same spirit that they stand together to support the morale of our fighting men, let us here at home stand together in the support of the United War Work Campaign.

DEDICATION AT CHAPEL

Rebuilt Organ to Be Dedicated by Joseph Bonnet, December 12

Residents of Andover will have a rare treat on Tuesday evening, December 12, when the rebuilt organ in the chapel of Phillips Academy will be dedicated by Joseph Bonnet, the organist of St. Eustache, Paris. Mr. Bonnet is perhaps the greatest living organ virtuoso, the successor at the Conservatory concerts of Alex Guilmant. Mr. Bonnet's recital will be a memorable event in Andover's musical life. He is visiting America under the auspices of the Franco-American Association for the Advancement of French Musical Art, and will appear with the Boston Symphony Orchestra as soloist on the day after the Andover concert.

COLONIAL THEATRE DRIVE

Next Week Speakers and Pictures at Colonial Theatre Will Aid in War Fund Campaign

Colonial theatre audiences next week will meet the United War Work campaign in a number of ways. Manager Resnik has selected appropriate reels for several nights of the week, and the stories which they tell are very stirring. Each night there will be a four-minute speaker, who will tell why we should continue to give, even though peace has come. In addition ot these features, Mr. Jones, local chairman for the campaign, takes pleasure in announcing that Mr. Resnik has generously offered ten per cent of all receipts on Tuesday and Wednesday for the fund. The kindness of this offer will be recognized, especially when it is remembered that the theatre lost a month's receipts on account of the influenza.

The campaign features for the nights of next week will be as follows:—

Monday.—War news of the time; four-minute address by Dr. Edward C. Conroy.

Tuesday.—Reels: "The Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin"; "The Eagle's Eye" (18th episode, a story of spies); "Around the Clock with a Sailor". Four-minute address by Rev. E. H. Prescott.

Wednesday.—Same reels. Four-minute address by Joseph L. Burns, Esq.

Thursday.—War news of the time. Four-minute address by Prof. Forbes.

Friday.—War news of the time. Four-minute address by Rev. E. Victor Bigelow.

Saturday.—War news of the time. Four-minute address by Jos. E. McConnell, Esq.

DEDICATION SERVICE

At Christ Church, Sunday Additional Stars were added to Service Flag. One Gold Star is There.

An impressive service was held last Sunday at the Christ Church, when the service flag with its additional blue stars and the one gold star was dedicated by the rector, C. W. Henry.

Many people were there to do honor to the boys whom this flag represents and especially were their thoughts with the one for whom the gold star stands, Thomas W. Platt, Jr., who died at Ellsworth, Maine, October, 14.

Preceding the choir, four members of Co. H of the State Guard, Sergt. Alfred Robb, Corp. David Robb, Corp. David Rae and C. W. Davis led the procession bearing the service flag. They stood in the chancel while the rector read the additional names and prayed for these boys who have gone into the service of our country. The flag was then placed upon the altar and the gold star was dedicated.

After this dedication the four men in uniform carried the flag back to its position in the rear of the church and the communion service followed.

Mr. Henry spoke of the connection between All Saint's Day and Our Soldier Dead. The sermon was very beautifully expressed and surely brought comfort to those who have given so much in sending away their boys. The thought is summarized in these words: "There is one set of people to whom the thought of God changes the outlook more than any other, and that is the mourners of the world. If their boys are really dead, then there is nothing to take the place of the darkness of the night. But if God is God, then we can trust them to Him, to have 'a glorious, full and interesting life' beyond the grave.

'As they come trooping from the war
Our skies have many a new-gold star.'"

Violin Lessons

Give to practical music a place in the education of your children. Joseph Emile Daudelin, former pupil of the famous Paris Conservatoire, at Briggs-Allen School Saturdays; other days at Steinert Hall, Boston.

Women that Men Like

"What we men want for the most part," says Thackeray, "is a humble, flattering, smiling, child-loving, tea-making being who laughs at our jokes, however old they may be, coaxes and wheedles us in our humors and fondly lies to us through life. In other words, the more essentially feminine woman is, the more irresistibly does she appeal to and attract our sex."

MASS MEETING SUNDAY

as a hut-worker. Later he was made acting chaplain. He was wounded and spent the last part of his war-year in a hospital.

What may be the best part of the evening will be given to singing patriotic songs. Mr. Bigelow and his associates have been carefully organizing this part of the program for a real "community sing." The stage will be occupied by a large choir, whose members have been practicing for the occasion. Mr. Moore will direct the singing, and Mr. Michelsen will be at the piano. The singing will be shared by soloists the chorus and audience. The songs will include "America," the Star-spangled Banner," "Keep the Home Fires Burning," the "Long Long Trail," and others less familiar.

Altogether, the best of all our mass meetings is promised for Sunday night.

LOCAL NEWS NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. William Harnden Foster have leased their house on Chestnut St. to Rev. B. L. Hess and will remain at their summer home in South Freeport, Me., where Mr. Foster is employed by the government. Mrs. Foster, with her two children, Dorothy and William, Jr., have been spending a few days with Mrs. Foster's mother, Mrs. Joseph H. Lowd.

Several ladies representing the Mission department of the Free church attended a meeting of the Andover and Woburn branch held Thursday in Malden. Reports of work done by the various auxiliaries during the past year were full of interest and encouragement. The principal address was given by Mrs. Emma B. Tucker, returned missionary from Techchow, China, who was a charming speaker.
